QA/Product Development Position, Village Cannery

Village Cannery, an apple sauce and vinegar products company, is growing and realizing that they will need some technical depth as FSMA approaches. They envision hiring or developing someone into a combined QA and product development person. Assistance with implementing FSMA would be the priority. It is currently all high acid and we are looking at a beverage which would probably be classified as acidified. We're thinking that a recent BS or MS would fit. Salary is negotiable. Any possible candidates can contact Joseph Shepard directly, jshepard@gmail.com.
